DR. CROOK'S WINE OF TABI
Ten Years of Public Testimony has proved Dr. Crook's Wine of Tabor to be the most effective and reliable preparation ever offered to the public. It is rich in the medicinal qualities of Tabor, and is a most valuable remedy for all diseases of the blood, and for all diseases of the system. It is a most effective and reliable preparation for all diseases of the blood, and for all diseases of the system. It is a most effective and reliable preparation for all diseases of the blood, and for all diseases of the system.

KEEP THE BLOOD PURE
And the health of the system will follow. There is a preparation of Iron and Tabor, which will remove from the blood all impurities and build up the system. It is a most effective and reliable preparation for all diseases of the blood, and for all diseases of the system. It is a most effective and reliable preparation for all diseases of the blood, and for all diseases of the system.

BEAUTIFY YOUR COMPLEXION.
Do not use paint or powder, but get a good permanent beauty by purifying your blood. This preparation of Iron and Tabor will remove from the blood all impurities and build up the system. It is a most effective and reliable preparation for all diseases of the blood, and for all diseases of the system. It is a most effective and reliable preparation for all diseases of the blood, and for all diseases of the system.

To explain the origin of the words, which we insert below, it is proper to state that the congregation of Trinity (P. R.) Church at Portsmouth, Va., placed an appropriate window in their church edifice in memory of Virginia's slain during the war, which they were forced to remove in consequence of offense taken by the United States authorities.

Take down the memorial window, tenderly take it away;
Lay it aside as a relic.
In its place put another of gray;
In lieu of the gorgeous colors
Which glowed in the sunlight of day
Let a cold light fall within the church
Through a window of modest gray.

Let it have no word of inscription,
Never a hint of the day;
Let it stand in the church at twilight,
Tender, soft and gray.
Then will the true and the valiant
Pause when they kneel to pray,
And ask God's rest for the heroes
Whose story is told in gray.

Hark! The wind is singing,
And the spirit of the year,
Snowy flowers white is flinging
Gently far and near,
Such as lie on a maiden dead,
On the hear December's head.

Yet another winter day,
And the snowy flow'r's down;
Yet another morning gray,
And the year is gone,
Gone, where all have gone before.
To sea without a shore.

The Warning Repeated.
The Atlanta Herald contains the following editorial announcement:
The warning given by the Montgomery Advertiser to capitalists is timely and correct. Our readers are familiar with the manner in which the bill was passed authorizing the issue of a considerable amount in bonds; hence, should noticed men at the North purchase them after the warning given, they do so with the certainty of their repudiation confronting them. Alabama is naturally a Democratic State, and as the next general election is almost certain to restore them to power, the repudiation of the bonds will be speedy.

We inform all parties plainly that the people of Alabama will not recognize these bonds at all. They will recognize no debt not fairly created by lawful authority. The State of Alabama has already suffered enough from the attempts of a set of Radical ignoramus to govern it, for which they are no more capable than so many monkeys! She has been already disfigured and plundered to the full extent of peaceful suffrage, or acquiescence; and if poor Lewis and his crowd of loafers imagine they have found a new place for their profligate operations in impoverished Alabama, they are utterly mistaken. We feel authorized to give due public notice that he who buys an Alabama security, unless issued by an honest Legislature act having the sanction of the taxpayers, will take it with a dozen law suits, and subject to every remedy to which the people may resort either in reason or in desperation.

Montgomery Advertiser.
The bonds alluded to above are the two millions of bonds authorized to be issued by the bogus legislature at the Court House. The same illegal body we understand has passed an act to double the taxes of the people of Alabama.

A CLOWN'S SERMON.—One evening when the performance was about to close in John Robinson's Circus, the clown stepped forward, and in a solemn tone, addressed the vast assemblage present, among whom were hundreds of professing Christians of the different denominations, in the following style:
"My friends, we have taken in about six hundred dollars here to-day—more money, I venture to say than any minister of the gospel in this county will receive for a whole year's service. A large portion of this money was given by Church members, a large portion of this audience is made up of members of the Church. And yet when you say you are too poor to give anything. Yet you come here and pay dollars to hear me talk nonsense. I am a fool because I am paid for it; I make my living by it. You profess to be wise, and yet you support me in my folly. But perhaps you say you did not come to see the circus, but the animals. Ah, now, this is all an excuse. If you came simply to see the animals, why did you not look at them and leave? Why did you stay to hear my nonsense? Now is this a nice, pretty place for Christians to be in? Do you not feel ashamed of yourselves? You ought to blush in such a place as this."

BURIED BY A BEAR.
A California Cattle Herd's Experience with a Grizzly.

A gentleman from the lower country, where grizzly bears help the herders to take care of the sheep, relates a curious adventure which occurred to an Indian herdsman in his employ. He sent the man to a distant portion of a large rancho to look after a herd of sheep. The Indian at nightfall got under a shed with a roof of branches, but open on all sides, and lay down in his blankets. After a few hours' sleep, he was awakened by feeling the hot breath of some animal on his face. He moved his arms and at once understood the situation—a huge bear was snuffing him.

The man, with great presence of mind, determined to keep perfectly still, for he knew if he moved or cried out, one blow of those huge paws would break his skull like a walnut. Brain scratched off the blankets and seized the Indian by the leg. Though suffering terribly, the brave fellow did not allow a groan or cry to escape him. The bear dragged him from the hut for some distance, and then commenced to dig a hole to lay the Indian in and cover him up from the coyotes. After the grave had been dug deep enough the bear (contending himself with about a pound of flesh from the victim's thigh) moved the body to the hole and covered it up.

The Indian managed to keep the earth over his face loose enough to allow him to breathe, and when the bear retired, he crawled out toward the mustang, which was picked some yards outside the hut. With great difficulty he mounted, and then rode toward the rancho house. A doctor was sent for, and pronounced the wounds, though severe and painful, not likely to prove fatal. The next day a hunt was organized, and the grizzly was killed in the neighborhood of the spot where he had stowed away his intended meal.

JOSEPH H. SPEED,

DAVID P. LEWIS, Gov'r.

AN ACT.
To require County Superintendents of Education to have an office at the County Seat of their respective counties.
SEC. 1. Be it enacted by the Board of Education of the State of Alabama, That on and after the first day of January, 1873, County Superintendents of Education be and are hereby required to have an office at the County Seat of their respective counties, and that they shall on Saturday of each week be present at, and keep open their offices for transacting business with the teachers of the free public schools.
SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.
JOSEPH H. SPEED,
President Board of Education.
Approved, Dec. 14, 1872.
DAVID P. LEWIS, Governor.

A sleeping volcano has been discovered in Elbert county by a negro—While duck hunting he felt the ground hot and saw smoke issuing from a hole in the sand, so he thought he would sound the hole with a reed. The reed disappeared so did Cuffee when a loud explosion took place. Several gentlemen afterwards examined the place and vouch for the truth of the negro's statement. The reed is not to be found, the ground is hot and smoke is ascending. Are we to have a Vesuvius among us?—[Atlanta (Ga.) Herald.]

During the late Conference at Worcester, Mass., says an exchange the following dialogue was heard between two newbys: "I say, Jim, what's the meaning of so many ministers being here altogether?" "Why," answered Jim, scornfully, "they always meet once a year to swap sermons."

Steam wagons are running over Washington streets.

What Others Think of Them.

In speaking of the conduct of poor Lewis and his scalawags, the New York World remarks:
The substance of Attorney General Williams' proposed settlement of the Alabama Legislature imbroglio was that the members of both rival bodies should meet on masses in the State Capitol and there fight it out among themselves, the advantage, so far as there was any, being given the Grant men. Both parties accepted the arrangement, and now that the Democrats, despite the way in which they were handicapped, have gotten the better of the struggle, the Republicans treat the decision as a utility, still keeping up their outside Legislature. No doubt the success of the usurpation sanctioned by Grant in Louisiana encourages them to think if they complicate matters they, too, will be recognized as the only lawful Legislature. Should such be the case, a foretaste of what is in store for Alabama appears in a message of the new Governor recommending that taxation be increased 100 per cent., and a bill by the outlying Legislature to issue a small preliminary batch of $2,000,000 in State bonds.

Florida Legislature.
Parties in the Florida Legislature are closely divided, according to the Radical announcement of the result. The returns from Broward county elect a Conservative Senator, and this makes the Senate stand 13 Radical to 11 Democrats. In the House the Radicals have a majority of two. But the Marianne Courier says that one of the Republican Senators is a Liberal Republican, and one of their Representatives is an "Independent" upon whose vote no party can count. So the Radicals are not sure of a working majority in either branch.

Another Swamp Angel Killed.
The Robeson County outlaws are being thinned out by Providence and buckshot. About a year ago this gang of daring outlaws and murderers, who ruled the dismal, swampy region of Sealetown, N. C., consisted of five persons. These were Henry Berry Lowery, the leader; "Boss" Strong, Steve Lowery and Tom Lowery. From the visits of Herald correspondents to the terrorized neighborhood, one of whom penetrated the swamps and met bandits themselves, the thrilling story of their long fight with the peculiar civilization around them was given to the world. Large rewards have long been offered for their bodies, dead or alive. As a proof of their complete desperation it may be noted that Henry Lowery was killed by the bursting of a shotgun. "Boss" Strong was shot in his cabin through a "cat hole" by a man named McLaughlin. Neither of the bodies was recovered. Tom Lowery was shot a few months ago by Colonel Wishart, a relative of one of the victims of the gang. Andrew Strong was shot dead on Thursday by a young man named William Wilson, whom the outlaw had just threatened with death. Steve Lowery is now the only living member of a band of desperadoes whose name will long be remembered in North Carolina.
N. Y. Herald.

The "Athenaeum" gives the following lines by Tom Moore as now published for the first time:
When life looks lone and dreary,
What light can dispel the gloom?
When Time's swift wing is weary,
What charm can refresh his plume?
'Tis woman whose sweetness beams
On all that we feel or see;
And if man of Heaven are dreameth,
'Tis when he thinks purely of thee.
Oh! woman!

A. & C. RAILROAD.—The Tuscaloosa Blade thus speaks of the management of this road:
"The A. & C. Road has, apparently, been in a more irregular and defective condition, since again falling into the hands of Stanton, than ever before. The schedule time is not complied with at all, and when we get two or three tolerable mails a week, we have cause for great rejoicing. Three days often elapse ere we receive anything like a fair mail; therefore, our readers must not be astonished at the Blade's dearth of late news from abroad."

If it were possible to convert the cotton crop of the South into yarns, and in this form ship it, instead of the present rule of shipping the raw material, it would add an increase to the amount received on the crop of $150,000,000 annually.

A Lovely Reminiscence.

During the late examination of Gen. Sherman, the lawyers obtained from him admissions as to the correctness of two dispatches published in the "supplemental report of the joint committee on the conduct of the war," in two volumes, printed at the Washington Government Printing Office 1866, and from which the following extracts are made:
[Volume 1, page 287.]
WASHINGTON, December 18, 1864.
Maj. Gen. W. T. Sherman, Savannah:

Should you capture Charleston, I hope that by some accident the place may be destroyed, and if a little salt should be sown upon its site it may prevent the future crops of nullification and secession.
(Signed) H. W. HALLECK,
Major-General of Staff.

The following is the reply of General Sherman:
[Vol. 1, page 291.]
HEADQUARTERS MIL. DIV. OF THE ARMY, In Field, Savannah, Dec. 24, 1864.
Extract: "I will bear in mind your hint as to Charleston and don't think salt will be necessary. When I move the Fifteenth Corps will be on the right wing, and their position will bring them naturally into Charleston first, and if you have watched the history of that corps, you will have remarked that they generally do their work well. The truth is the whole army is burning to wreak their vengeance on South Carolina. I almost tremble at her fate but feel that she deserves all that seems in store for her, etc., etc." I look upon Columbia as quite as bad as Charleston, etc., etc.
(Signed by General Sherman in his official capacity.)

TELEGRAPHIC.
CALIFORNIA.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—Bud Doble arrived last night, with Rosalind Elmo and Dan Voorhees, which were taken to the agricultural park to-day, to go into training to race with Occident.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—The military sent to fight have not yet succeeded in drawing warriors from their stronghold on Ben Wright's cave. Every stratagem to dislodge them, thus far, has failed. Howitzers and bombshells, which have arrived from Fort Van Coover, will be used against them. Additional troops have been stationed at Fort Kearney on the plain. Jack's band has been increased and now numbers one hundred warriors, who are all well armed and have the reputation of being good fighting men.

INDIANA.
INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 31.—Wm. Cluck, convicted of the murder of his wife and sentenced to be hanged Friday next, committed suicide to-day by taking morphine.

VIRGINIA.
ALEXANDRIA, Dec. 31.—A block of five brick warehouses on Union street is burned. Loss $100,000.

NEW YORK.
New York, Jan. 1st.—By the falling of a scaffolding at liberty Cooper Mines, Frederick county, Maryland, yesterday, twenty-six miners were precipitated several hundred feet into the pit and seriously injured.
The Times New Orleans dispatch says that it is rumored that there will be an attempt to inaugurate the McEnery State officials on the 9th inst., and that trouble is anticipated.

OHIO.
CINCINNATI, January 1.—The loss by ice to-day is estimated at two hundred thousand dollars. The chief loss is from coal barges torn from their moorings.

Judge Gray of Chicago is a merry dog. The Tribune reports that after having granted his third divorce on Saturday last, he said to a lawyer, who wanted his case in open court, to save the expense of a hearing before a master: They are all in such a hurry, I am afraid that I am overstocking this market with second hand married women." Which is a fact.

We thank God for the re-election of General Grant.—[Hartford Courant.]
Better thank the devil, the negro the bayonet and boundless fraud, as they had much more to do with his reelection than the Almighty.—Tuscaloosa Times.

New Year's ADDRESS

OF THE CARRIER
OF THE
JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN,
FOR THE YEAR 1873.

Happy New Year! kind friends, I'm here once again, in spite of the winter's chill and rain. I'm a pretty tough boy, the assertion is true, or I'd have died long ago logging papers to you. All year I have toiled for you, early and late, have furnished you news from all parts of the State, have been punctual, good-humored, extremely polite, and for your convenience have walked—Oh, a sight, have been cheerful and kind and tolerably civil. Considering I've had to play the part of a "Devil," so now let your gratitude prompt you to that; which will cheer and make glad the young heart of poor Pat.

Yes, I greet you again with my annual song! In it I'll attempt to recount, not prolong, the joys and sorrows, the weals and the woes, of the year, which at twelve last night doffed its clothes; and sighing for rest in a weary voice said: "This late Father Time, please put me to bed!" Well, the first things which I shall attempt to relate will pertain to the matters of nation and State, and then, in due season, I'll come along down to items of interest in our county and town. I shall strive to omit nothing worthy the space, but arrange every "dot" in its own proper place.

The political events most important to all in our midst, occurred near the close of the fall; 'twas the fall of the year, when weak nature must die, then perished our hopes, new scattered they lie, but regrets that the National and State fights we lost are now all removed. As the winter's cold frost dissolves in the warm brilliant rays of the sun, so regrets are all lost in the pride of our "MUN!" Ah! MUN is our joy and the handsomest sight "Monstrous the 'leg,' which so bravely stood up for the right. Long may he wave! So may Best No. 8, whose citizens all take their politics straight.

Just right along here I'll forget not to tell that our Council has labored remarkably well, 'tis composed of a David a man of pure heart, A Leontias who is as brave as he is smart, A William whose modesty is wonderful to see, A John who is firm and from vanity free, And last, but not least on the board is Sir Dick, Who is jovial and witty, funny and thick; Our Mayor is George who was born to control, He can put matters thro'—winds 'em up like a scroll; But stop, I forgot to speak a word about Mat, He's a Marshal every inch of him, "how high was dat?"

Now since we've described in a measure our "Turks," let us halt to consider a few of their works, The best, the most useful, the grandest of all, Is the great Water System, Oh, it is capital, And the new Street lamps illumine the night, When the Queen of the heavens fails to lend us her light, Oh! they give to our village a gas pompous air, They're delightful, as long as we stay on the "square," But despite the brave works of the young councilmen, Their hearts are now burdened with grief and dire pain, Since the "mule" of their tenderest affections doth lie, Where grim Epidemic cannot "trifly."

Before I shall close permit me to say that our merchants are all doing well in their way, The Lawyers and Doctors and Teachers I think are as usual not common, ah, I see some one wink, And then we've Mechanics as sober and good As ever shaped leather, tin, iron, or wood, Now friends one and all I've no more to say, That cannot be said in some future day, Except to repeat my wish so sincere That to all this may be a most joyous New Year, May your lives be as birds in gladness and free, So pull out your quarter, "I know it is there," And hand it to me.

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Seminal Weakness, or Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., also Gonorrhea, Eczema and Figs, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6cts. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a 30-years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and rapidly.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 50 cents. Address the Publishers.

The books of Subscription to the Capital Stock of the Iron Works, to be located 6 miles north of Jacksonville, are in the hands of L. W. Cannon, at the office of the Judge of Probate. Nov. 30-51.

FIRE.—About 9 o'clock Tuesday morning the alarm of fire was given, and soon the people of the town, who were generally asleep, were hurrying to the scene. It was ascertained to be at Judge M. J. Turner's place and was at first supposed to be his residence; but as soon as ascertained, it proved to be a building of two rooms occupied by servants some eight feet distant from the residence. When the people and the Fire Company reached the scene of the conflagration, the building was one solid sheet of flame almost, for the fire had been burning some time before it was discovered and had made great headway by the time the alarm was given. When the Fire Company arrived on the ground, it seemed as if nothing could save the residence, but when the water gushed out from the fire hose in a bold and steady stream confidence took the place of fear and the people who had rushed to the burning house to help save it, had nothing to do but to stand off and witness how quickly the gallant boys of the Fire Company could master the flames. Having rendered the house perfectly safe, the Company turned its attention to the burning house, which was now only a shell with the roof entirely burned off, and so quickly did they flood it with water that the flames were almost instantly checked and the building was left standing with the roof burned off and the weatherboarding burned half through from the inside water works in the house.

Our gallant Fire Company is a complete and perfect success as a fire extinguisher. The loss of property was not great, but the loss of life by the flames was at one time imminent. The mother of a negro baby in the building rushed in, after the discovery of the fire, and snatched her child, as it were, a brand from the burning. It experienced no greater injury than a blistered face. The origin of the fire was accidental, doubtless, but just how it originated is not clear. The demonstrations of the efficiency of the water works on Tuesday, ought to reduce the rates of insurance here.

Our Home Journal.

This sterling Southern Agricultural and Family paper is just to hand. This number is the first of the enlarged size of the paper, making it the largest and finest weekly of the kind in the South. The present number is illustrated with a beautiful engraving representing "Hope," and on the right a beautiful young female representing the New Year just entering; while on the left is a representation of the Old Year the whole having a very striking and pleasing effect. Aside from this large double-page illustration are several other interesting and instructive pictures, making up a most attractive paper over published in the South. It is filled with a large amount of valuable agricultural and family reading, as well as the New Orleans markets, and items of news, manufactures, Southern Rural, etc. The new and beautiful engraving head, together with the neat typographical appearance and the enlarged size of the paper, are features that speak well for the establishment and success of the paper being the only illustrated Weekly Agricultural and Family paper published in the South. It is at the low price of $3 per year in advance, it should be in the home of every Southern planter and farmer. Sample copies sent free on application. TELEGRAPHIC.

LOUISIANA.

The following address and resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Committee of Two Hundred.

"This Committee, deeply impressed with the importance of discreet and harmonious action on the part of our people in the critical condition of our affairs, venture to submit the following statement of its views, in fulfillment of the mission confided to us by the people.

We have laid before the President of the United States an impartial and truthful history of the extraordinary events which have recently transpired within the State of Louisiana, resulting in the overthrow of the government elected by the people, and in temporarily installing in the office of the State men who were not in any manner elected thereto. The President, while maintaining the propriety of the course which he has pursued in a purely Executive capacity, has not professed to consider his action as finally decisive of the vital questions at issue in the politics of the State, but has referred us to Congress as the proper tribunal to investigate the facts with more minuteness than the means within the Executive control afford him the opportunity of doing, and to render such relief as the nature of the case may seem to require.

We have the assurance of both the President and the Attorney General that such action by Congress will meet with no opposition from the administration, and they will readily co-operate in affording such appropriate relief as Congress may see fit to recommend. We confidently anticipate that Congress will promptly appoint a committee to investigate fairly and impartially the facts of the case, and in view of the gross and palpable errors which have been committed, we cannot deem that such a committee must admit and report to Congress the necessity of prompt and complete relief.

We do not allow ourselves to despair of such relief at the hands of Congress, because the Republican party has a large majority in that body.

There exists in the political history of free governments conspicuous emergencies in which duty to the common weal rises superior to party ties and the imperative demand for justice overwhelms all personal or partisan considerations. We are impressed with the belief that the universal public sentiment of the people of the United States will point to the present crisis of Louisiana as constituting such an emergency and we are disposed to encourage in our people a spirit of trust and confidence in the virtue and justice of the National Government, which will be their best safeguard against rash and desperate conduct. If that trust should prove to be misplaced, and the monstrous usurpation which has taken place should be permitted to pass unrebuked, we may well give way to despair; but in the mean time it behooves our people to pursue a line of conduct which shall not be the result of every pretext or apology. We have everywhere and at all times proclaimed our conviction that the body styling itself a Legislature, now in session at the Mechanics Institute, does not and never did exercise a quorum of the members elected by the people; that it has no other claim to authority over, or obedience from the people, than such as it derives from the supposed recognition by the National Executive, and we feel justified by the language and action of the President himself in regarding that recognition as merely provisional and temporary, subject to the action of the Congress of the United States to which the President has submitted the question. We are openly convinced that the body which recently assembled at the Lyceum Hall in this city did comprise a quorum of lawfully elected members of the State Legislature, and that for the refusal of the National Executive to recognize it that body would encounter no legal obstacle to the exercise of all the constitutional functions of a State Legislature.

While fully accepting the situation as it stands and advising studios abstention from all proceedings calculated to provoke a collision with the powers that be there are certain duties imposed by the constitution in imperative terms which no body claiming or pretending to claim recognition as the lawful General Assembly of the State, can omit without adjudging its claim to be considered and recognized in all lawful procedure looking only to the association of lawful proceedings with a view to their future recognition by the Congress of the United States. When the controversy now at issue shall be determined, they should receive the moral support not only of the citizens of the State, but of every right minded citizen of the United States, wherever he may reside.

In view, therefore, of the approaching meeting of the General Assembly, now about to take place, be it resolved, that we recommend to that body and each support, earnest sympathy and maintain by legal means the rights and maintain by legal means the rights of the people of this State to local self-government.

On motion, the above report and resolution were unanimously adopted.

T. ADAMS, President.

D. C. LADART, Sec'y.

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, Jan. 5.—The Committee visiting Washington reported their belief that Congress would promptly appoint a Committee to investigate matters at issue.

Pineback has signed the act recently passed by the Kellogg Legislature to suppress riotous assemblages. The object is to arrest the members of the Liberal Legislature which is to assemble on the 6th inst. Pineback also issued a long and incendiary address. He concludes by the statement that Kellogg shall be inaugurated Governor but that no other than him shall be. The whole force of the State shall be used for this purpose and all necessary Federal aid will be invoked to co-operate with and sustain the same.

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, Jan. 7.

The city is very quiet. Pineback's Legislature is in joint session, for the purpose of counting the votes for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

The people's Legislature had, in the House, 58 members, being a quorum. The Senate had no quorum.

WASHINGTON.

Washington, Jan. 7.

In conversation to-day the President declared that his purpose in recognizing the Pineback government was only to enable parties to make up a case for the courts. He did not regard it as material which party he recognized. It was necessary to recognize one or the other. The military was only ordered to preserve the peace. The proclamation of Pineback on the Constitution and puts Pineback's party in the wrong.

The President has now no fear of a violation of the peace, and says the whole difficulty will soon be settled by the proper legal tribunal.

SENATE.—Sherman's resolution regarding the elections in Louisiana and Arkansas passed. It empowers the committee to send for persons and papers and to depose persons to take evidence.

NEW YORK.

Auburn, Jan. 7.

Jno. Hillsman, Dentist, formerly of Madison, Ga., shot his wife, her paramour and himself dead. Her paramour was a highly respected farmer. He leaves a wife and three daughters.

MARYLAND.

Baltimore, Jan. 7.

Judge Charles G. Lane, a prominent citizen of Hagerstown, suicided. A breach of promise suit perplexed him. He leaves a large estate.

BARBON, ME., Jan. 8.

The Courts have adjourned on account of small pox.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.

An Aspinwall letter states that the steamer Edgar Stewart, which had received a new crew from New York was announced as having sailed from Cartagena, with her large cargo of arms and ammunition for the revolutionists. She is under command of General M. A. Acero, who heretofore has been quite successful in similar expeditions. Of some 60 of her crew 40 are recruits for the Cuban army.

WASHINGTON.

Washington, Jan. 8.—SENATE.—Twenty thousand have been appropriated for the expense of the committee on election privileges for Louisiana and Arkansas.

A very long dispatch from New Orleans indicates that Pineback is kicking in the traces. Every opportunity has been given him to modify his night's dispatch regarding Louisiana matters but the dispatch is true.

ENGLAND.

London, Jan. 9.—Louis Napoleon died this morning.

Napoleon slept soundly last night—better than the preceding night. This morning his physicians had a consultation and decided to perform another operation at noon to-day. At the time of the consultation, the pulse was strong and regular—eighty-four beats to the minute.

At twenty-five minutes past ten signs of sinking appeared, the action of the heart suddenly failed, and he died forty-five minutes past ten o'clock.

Manhood!

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the Cause and Cure (without medicine) of Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Brachy and Firs, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6cts. The celebrated author, in this remarkable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a 30 years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his constitution may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postage, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 50 cents. Address the Publishers.

WHOLE NO. 1866.

The Death of Louis Napoleon

A great man has fallen in Europe—a man by whose side, ten years ago, every other potentate of the Old World shrunk into comparative significance. Whether considered in the light of a diplomat or a statesman he had few equals and no superiors! No man ever understood human nature better, or better understood the mode of making its weaknesses most beneficial to mankind. In that knowledge consists the first and last elements of true statesmanship.

Charles Louis Napoleon Bonaparte, whose death at ten o'clock yesterday morning is briefly announced in our telegrams this morning, was the youngest son of King Louis, of Holland, and Hortensia Beauharnais, daughter of the Empress Josephine, of France. He was born April 8, 1808, and was, therefore, 64 years, 8 months and 19 days of age at the date of his death. He was the godchild and favorite of the first Napoleon, and he was the brother of Louis, his father-in-law, and the stepfather of his son, and the stepfather of his son.

er, Hortense. He was educated in Paris under the eye of his mother, but was carried to Augsburg after the downfall of France and his family. In Switzerland, whither he went to spend his summers, he met Lebas, who first taught him Republicanism. When the revolution of 1830 broke out he petitioned Louis Phillips to be allowed to return to France, but Louis feared to grant him that privilege. In 1831 he and his brother (Napoleon) took an active part in the Italian troubles and were both impris-

Napoleon died in banishment; but Louis, differently constituted, had returned to England from whence he shortly after retired to his mother's château in Thurgau. The death of the Duke of Reichstadt, in 1832, left him heir to the French throne under the imperial edicts of 1804-5. Shortly thereafter he wrote his Œuvres posthumes (subsequently expanded into his celebrated Œuvres complètes) with the purpose, in brief, of inducing the French people to believe that an Emperor was essential to the true Republic.

can organization of their country. Unless France could be brought to recognize the validity (or virtual importance, which in France amounts to about the same) of the Imperial Edicts of 1894-5, he knew that his leadership would result in no advantage to himself, and hence the publication of this exceedingly able work. But a more publication of his theories did not limit his ambition. He aspired to rule France, and with that end in view, on the 20th of October, 1895, he proclaimed a revolution which, however resulted in a failure—the end of which was the banishment of the young author, revolutionist and leader to America. He remained a short time in the United States, then went to South America, whence he returned in 1837 to Switzerland to stand by the death-bed of his mother. France deputed him of Switzerland, whereupon Louis withdrew to England and began scheming a second revolution. He sailed thence to Boulogne, carrying a small retinue, which the French very readily dispersed, capturing the youthful ardor of the adventurer and taking him to Paris to stand on trial before the House of Peers. The eloquent Berryer defended him, and, on his trial for treason, and, although he succeeded in reducing his penitence to a minimum, he was sentenced to life imprisonment in the fortress of Ham. Here he remained six years, devoting his time to literary pursuits and the preparation of political essays. When the revolution of 1848 occurred he returned to Paris and was simultaneously elected to the National Assembly from four different Departments. He professed to be a Republican in sentiment, and, when the Presidential election of 1859 came on, was chosen President of the Republic by an overwhelming majority. He had now acquired a position which rendered him master of the situation, and used it as the stepping stone to the honor he had never ceased to covet from the date of the death of the Duke of Reichstadt. In 1851 he dissolved the Legislative Assembly and was given, or assumed, the title of "Em-

Prince President. Later in the same year he proclaimed universal manhood suffrage and ordered the election of a President for a term of ten years. Having dismissed Changarier from the command of the Army of Paris and replaced him with a tool of his own, there was no more difficulty of enforcing this order than there subsequently proved to be in securing his own election. Once elected and firmly seated, his successive steps towards Imperial control of the country is an intelligent lady, not in the least given to superstition, but is inclined to look upon it as a token of some impending calamity, and is nervously awaiting the issue, and asking herself "What does it foreshadow?" The event has created quite a sensation in that part of our city where it transpired, and is the subject of various conjectures.—Paris Kentuckian.

to know who "J. N.," styled "the immortal philosopher and orator," whose arrival in this city and sojourn at the "National" we noted, is. In reply we, will say that "J. N." is a character better known in the Northern than in the Southern States, the son of respected parents, named Free, residing in Perry county, Ohio. He is by no means as simple as many take him to be, although eccentric in manner and habits. He was educated for the legal profession, and reports says, left his native hills for a Southemity several years ago, when he was esteemed as a lawyer of more than average talent. While residing there, he was retained to defend a man charged with the crime of murder, and after a trial of some days succeeded in obtaining his acquittal; but so great was the effort of "J. N." in behalf of his client, that it impaired his person. From that time "J. N." fancies that he is, and styles him self the greatest philosopher and orator of the age, and to enlighten the people on all subjects, moral, political and religious.

Capt. B. H. Scrows has resigned the position as Secretary & Treasurer of the Montgomery Board of Trade. Mr. Legendry, a member of the Board, in receiving the resignation offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the resignation of B. H. Scrows and Treasur-

Mr. B. H. Screws, which was unexpected, and certainly undesired by us, is reluctantly accepted. We assure him of the warmest and most cordial sympathies of our entire membership in whatever he may engage."

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—It is understood that the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections not be deemed in the Louisiana case not to send a committee to New Orleans to take testimony at present, but that they have to-day subpoenaed both of the returning boards, known as the Wharton board and the Boyce board, to appear before them in this city.

An effort will be made by the committee to have presented for their investigation all the returns of the electoral vote from the various parishes in Louisiana.

A special sent hence to the Atlanta Herald, says that several Alabamians who voted for Grant are demanding important offices. Judge Dillard, of Sumter county, writes to the President asking a Cabinet office and asserting that he can carry over to the Radical party one-half of the white population. Young Dingham, son of the State Treasurer, wants to be appointed Sixth Auditor, and Parsons desires the collectorship of the port of Mobile.

It is understood that the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections at a meeting late this afternoon determined not to send commissioners to Louisiana to take testimony regarding political troubles there, but to summon all needed witnesses to Washington, and a deputy sergeant-at-arms was dispatched to New Orleans this evening for that purpose.

Judge Grandin, of Mobile, has been in Washington for several days looking after his clients in Mobile, against whom suits have been instituted for the recovery of duties on merchandise imported during the war and which paid duties at the same time to the Confederate States authorities. Secretary Postpaid, of the question favorably to Judge Grandin's clients, and the decision will be received in many districts of the South as one of timely relief and evincing a better disposition on the part of the government than has prevailed hitherto.

The Vienna Exposition will have a department for "women's work."
